A BEVERAGE OF RARE QUALITY

THE RED MILL DISTILLERY

The first time I stood in our cellar door after dark, with the barrels all around and the lights low, I thought: this is a room people would want to be in.

That's largely how the private events at Red Mill started. We hadn't planned an event venue when we set up the distillery in Rozelle. People came through for a tour, sat with a cocktail, looked around at the casks, and asked if they could bring a few more next time. Then a few more after that.

So we made room for it.

These days we host two kinds of nights, mostly. The celebration nights – birthdays, anniversaries, the kind of milestone where you want somewhere that doesn't feel like every other venue in the city. And the work nights – client events, end-of-year drinks, team gatherings where the people you've spent the year alongside deserve a unique experience

The setting is the distillery itself. Stills at one end, the barrel hall in the middle, and the cellar door over looking it all. It's a working room, not a styled one. The smell of oak and rum is in the air because that's what we do here every day.

We work with you to craft the experience you are looking for. This document will give you an idea of the key choices, options and costs for your event.

From here, we are happy to send you a quote to review and refine.
